BNPG Purposes

- To promote an interest in native plant cultivation and preservation;
- To hold lectures and discussions and workshops to promote the above;
- To convene excursions to promote the appreciation of native plants and their habitats;
- To organize an exhibition of native flora from time to time;
- To assist with community plantings and community events as appropriate

As a member of the Australian Plants Society (Vic)

- * Receive the quarterly APS newsletter "Growing Australian".
- * Be entitled to free seeds from the APS seed bank.
- * Be able to attend quarterly meetings of APS with garden and bushland visits in various parts of Victoria.
- * Be part of an Australia-wide group.

Benefits of APS Bendigo membership.

Meet lots of friendly people interested in native plants. You do not need to have a totally native garden (or even a garden at all) to join our group.

Learn to identify, propagate and grow native plants including indigenous (local to our region) plants.

Share gardening tips, cuttings and seeds.

Be inspired by our monthly guest speaker on native plant related topics, but some meetings take the form of group discussions and activities.

We also hold occasional excursions to local native gardens, and to bushland areas of the Bendigo region.

Receive our monthly newsletter, which will inform you of coming programs and other local activities, and has articles by members. The emailed newsletter is in colour.

Become involved in hands on conservation work with occasional community planting or weeding days.

Meetings are held at 7:30pm on the third Tuesday of each month from February to November inclusive, at the Golden Square Hall, 9 Old High Street, Golden Square.

Rooms open at 7.10 pm, program begins at 7.30 pm, and the meeting concludes with supper.
